Also buried in the Old Yard Cemetery according to Gorham History, Stephen Messer, who came prior to 1800 and located in Shelburne and then about 1805 settled in Gorham. He was known as the only praying man in town for years.

Also buried in the Old Yard Cemetery according to Gorham History, is Stephen Messer's wife, Anna Barker, who was one of the intelligent women of her day and possessed a good education. She was a physician and nurse for many years, for the settlements along the Androscoggin River. She was strong, resolute and fearless. Often with a child in her arms.
